Level: Intermediate (B1-B2)
Duration: 60 minutes
Topic: Professional introductions & professional background
Main objective: By the end of the lesson, the student will be able to introduce themselves professionally, describe their current role and responsibilities, and talk about their professional experience.

1. Lead-in - Getting to Know Your Professional Profile

5 minutes

The teacher asks:

What do you do?

What are your main responsibilities?

How long have you worked in your current position?

What did you do before your current job?

What do you enjoy most about your work?

By asking these questions, the teacher activates the student's existing vocabulary and introduces the topic.

2. Listening - YouTube Video

5 minutes

Business English: Introduce Yourself and Your Job

Students watch the following YouTube video and practice introducing themselves following the structure offered by the man from the video.

3. Reading - Meeting a New Business Contact

15 minutes

The student reads a short professional introduction in which a business professional introduces themselves, explains their current position, describes their responsibilities, and mentions their previous experience.

Meeting a New Business Contact

It is Monday morning, and Emma is attending a business networking event in London. She works as an Account Manager for BrightTech, a company that provides software solutions for small and medium-sized businesses.

Emma has worked in the technology industry for more than six years. She currently manages several international accounts and is responsible for maintaining relationships with existing clients. She also works closely with the sales and technical teams to make sure that clients receive the right solutions for their businesses.

Before joining BrightTech, Emma worked for a marketing agency, where she managed digital campaigns for international companies. She gained valuable experience in customer relations and project management during that time.

At the networking event, Emma meets Daniel, who works for a company that is looking for a new software provider.

Emma: Hi, I'm Emma. It's nice to meet you.
Daniel: Nice to meet you too. I'm Daniel. I work for Global Solutions.
Emma: Great. What do you do at Global Solutions?
Daniel: I'm a Business Development Manager. I mainly focus on finding new business opportunities and developing relationships with potential clients. What about you?
Emma: I'm an Account Manager at BrightTech. I manage several international accounts and work closely with our clients to understand their needs.
Daniel: Interesting. How long have you worked there?
Emma: I've been with BrightTech for almost three years. Before that, I worked in marketing for about four years.
Daniel: That's interesting. Have you worked with international clients before?
Emma: Yes, I have. I've worked with companies in Europe, North America and Latin America.
Daniel: That's great. We're actually looking for a software provider for one of our new projects. Maybe we could talk about it sometime.
Emma: Absolutely. I'd be happy to learn more about the project and see how we can help.

A. Reading Comprehension

Answer the questions.

What is Emma's current position?

What type of company does she work for?

How long has she worked in the technology industry?

What are two of Emma's current responsibilities?

What did she do before joining BrightTech?

What is Daniel's position?

Why might Emma and Daniel continue their conversation?

What international experience does Emma have?

B. True or False

Read the statements and decide whether they are True (T) or False (F).

E. Personalize It

Imagine you are Emma.

Prepare your own professional introduction using information about your real or imaginary professional profile.

Include:

your current position

your company

your main responsibilities

your professional experience

your previous position

your area of expertise

your experience with international clients

Then introduce yourself to your teacher as if you were meeting for the first time at a business networking event.

4. Vocabulary - Talking About Your Professional Background

10 minutes

Focus on vocabulary such as:

position

role

responsibilities

department

manage coordinate specialize in

be responsible for

work with

experience

background

previous position

currently

career

The student chooses vocabulary that applies to their own professional situation and practices speaking.

Objective: Build a practical vocabulary bank for the speaking task.

5. Grammar - Present, Past & Experience

15 minutes

Focus on the contrast between:

Present Simple
> current job and responsibilities
I manage a team of five people.

Past Simple
> finished positions or experiences in the past
I worked for a logistics company for three years.

Present Perfect
> experience and situations connected to the present
I have worked in international business for eight years.

Activities:

Choose the correct tense.

Complete sentences about professional experience.

Correct common mistakes.

Transform basic sentences into more professional-sounding statements.

Objective: Help the student distinguish between talking about their current role, finished past experience, and professional experience up to now.

6. Speaking - Professional Networking Simulation

20 minutes

Situation:

You are attending a business networking event. You have just met a professional who works for a company that could potentially become an important business contact.

The student must:

Introduce themselves.

Explain their current position.

Describe their main responsibilities.

Talk about their previous experience.

Mention their professional strengths or areas of expertise.

Ask the other person about their professional background.

Then repeat the activity with a different scenario so the student can improve their first attempt.

Objective: Move from controlled language practice to spontaneous professional communication.

7. Wrap-up & Feedback

5 minutes

The teacher gives feedback on:

Grammar accuracy

Vocabulary
